Agenda Item	Presenter
I. Welcome and Introductions	Chairperson Sarah Weber called the meeting to order at 6:00PM. Roll call was conducted and a quorum was declared.
II. Meeting Minutes Review	The December 2025 draft meeting minutes were reviewed and approved.
III. Behavioral Health Services Directors Report	Dr. Ryan Quist provided updates across Behavioral Health Services (see attachment: Director's Report – January 2026). BHC Comments/Questions <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Commissioner McIntosh-Sako asked about the public comment timeline in the Integrated Plan (IP) approval process. A draft IP will be submitted in March; DHCS will provide feedback and public comment will occur once this draft is posted. • Commissioner Durbin asked whether the 83.81% figure in the Behavioral Health Bridge Housing projects section of the Director's Report referred to funding or bed-space capacity. The figure reflects bed capacity. One site experienced challenges and the program is visiting the option of using double-occupancy rooms to increase utilization.

V. Discussion/Action Item: Review and Approve BHC Member Conduct Agreement	Commissioners raised concerns about the need for a Member Conduct Agreement. They decided to table the item and return to it at the retreat.
VI. Administrative Barriers to Behavioral Health Services	A panel of behavioral health providers presented administrative barriers to accessing and delivering co-occurring services. Panelists represented Turning Point CORE, Telecare, River Oak Center for Children, AKUA Behavioral Health, and Stanford Sierra Youth & Families (SSYF). What is working well in your delivery of co-occurring services? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Turning Point CORE: Onsite SUD counseling, weekly SUPT assessments, and the ability to request same-day assessments. • Telecare: Organization-wide training to ensure all staff are co-occurring capable by March. • River Oak: Comprehensive youth assessments, Seven Challenges counseling, and trauma-informed services. • AKUA: Full continuum of care, strong clinical collaboration, and weekly trauma-informed training. • Stanford Sierra Youth & Families: Integrated behavioral health and substance use services, with level-of-care assessments and Alcohol and Drug (AOD)counseling. What challenges are you encountering? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Turning Point CORE: Referral time frames; need for stronger cross-system relationships. • Telecare: Supporting families and clients through long recovery timelines and navigating natural supports. • River Oak: Referral support needs. • AKUA: Residential waitlists and limited Medi-Cal provider availability. • Stanford Sierra Youth & Families: Youth in FSPs often cannot meet Intensive Outpatient Program hour requirements; need for stronger cross-agency communication. BHC Comments/Questions <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Commissioner Mummert asked whether Turning Point or Telecare planned to expand on-site services similar to HOPE Cooperative. No current plans are known. • Commissioners Durbin and Avey invited panelists to the Adult Prevention & Treatment & Youth Prevention & Treatment committee meetings to continue the discussion. • Commissioner Churchill asked whether Turning Point’s Substance Use Disorder Counselors are registered and full-time, and whether Seven Challenges is facilitated by credentialed staff.

	Counselors are full-time and CADC-certified. Stanford Sierra Youth & Families and River Oak confirmed that Seven Challenges is facilitated by trained AOD counselors, mental health professionals, and a Certified Peer Advocate. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Commissioner Rodriguez asked what happens to youth who do not qualify for a program due to mental health needs outside the provider’s scope. AKUA explained that as an adult provider, they refer youth to appropriate resources and ensure safe placement before discharge. • Commissioner Paige emphasized the importance of lived experience in recovery support and highlighted the challenges parents face when caring for youth with high-acuity needs who fall through service gaps. Stanford Sierra Youth & Families noted that they have a Peer Support Specialist within the Resilient Youth Safe & Empowered Abode Program to support youth and families. • Commissioner Wentzel asked about challenges in stepping clients up or down through levels of care. Providers reported that stepping clients down in care generally works smoothly but stepping clients up to higher-level or residential programs can be difficult due to limited availability and placement barriers. Youth programs noted that transitions occur through referral and can be adjusted as needs change, with some youth remaining in programs longer to ensure stability. • Commissioner Raftery asked panelists to estimate the percentage of justice-involved individuals they serve and how youth assessed at a residential level of care are supported when no residential programs are available. Justice-involved representation varies by program, ranging from roughly 20% to nearly 100% depending on the population served. When residential programs are unavailable, providers coordinate with Sacramento County, conduct American Society of Addiction Medicine assessments, and work with the courts to determine appropriate placement. • Commissioner Riviera asked which languages each program is able to serve. Providers collectively serve a wide range of languages through in-house multilingual staff, interpreter services, AI-supported translation, and County linguistic resources, ensuring language access across programs. Public Comment None
