Court and Justice Involved Programs

Court & Justice-Involved (JI) programs integrate mental health and legal perspectives to address the complex intersection of mental illness and the criminal justice system by balancing public safety with individual well-being for those affected by mental illness. Sacramento County BHS provides a continuum of services to JI individuals struggling with mental illness, which includes, but is not limited to, assessment, treatment, crisis intervention, and court-based solutions in collaboration with justice partners within the community.
