Descriptions

Mobile Response Dispositions

Other – The mobile response team was able to complete the on-site crisis assessment, but was not able to complete a safety plan before the client disengaged. Therefore, the team was not able to disposition the response as "Stabilized in community…".

Unable to Assess Reasons

Unable to locate the individual – This reason is used when the response team arrives at a park, apartment complex, gate/lock restricted area, or other general public space, but is unable to find or establish contact with the client.

Individual left the location – This reason is used when the response team arrives to the given location, but is told the intended client left the premises. This generally occurs when the caller isn't the actual intended client (i.e. a parent calls, seeking help for their child).

Lethal Means

During the dispatch screening call, the caller disclosed they possess an object that can cause lethal harm to self or others. The object may, or may not, be used as an active threat during the mobile response. If the lethal means object is a gun, the mobile response team only responds if the gun is locked away, and not an active threat.
